

What I feel is at
the heart of the
authenticity of what I know ~~is~~

Words can change
things for the better.

At the end of the day
I get to walk away.

Arguing with someone who ~~has~~ a lot of
has

privilege after they
commented on a post
that I made

I KNOW THAT THINGS HAPPEN WHEN WE ARE LIVE IN A
ROOM TOGETHER
THAT CAN NOT
HAPPEN ONLINE

We need to take

① move beyond our comfort
zones, right now we need to keep the

future open.

Being continuously connected is just another way we are disconnected

Everybody has a right to learn their culture, and for those who have lost their culture
need advocacy.

Each person is positioned
at the center of their own world. All perspective comes from this point.

facebook chat with
my granddaughter
who had been estranged
from the family.

Fatigue and frustration at seeing everyone post in anger, but not translating it into
real-world action.

"Fake News" Poetry-Performance Workshop

a. Event: What happens?

all go somewhere @ get healthier.
↳ other worlds are possible

b. Place: Where does it take place?

online

↓
web of connectedness
in a true way.

c. Time: When does it take place?

d. Character(s): Who is involved?

- grand daughter as veteran
- beleaguered man - refugee

e. Causality: Why is this happening?

capitalism
white supremacy
fear (assumes ethnic scarcity of resources)

f. Effect on the audience: What effect on the audience are you hoping to create with this?

not about
anaphora

Share-care. (material resources)
↳ scaled up 2 make the link

↓
ethnic scarcity of
care

like ↳ recognizing litig. thru as a human by benefits → rights → equality + equity